

Our Wondrous World: A Rotating Collection of Photographs by Michael Day

Displayed at Artisans' Gallery, August 1 – October 31

EAST AFRICA

Michael first visited East Africa in June 2004; he last visited in July 2009. The warmth of the people, the beautiful landscapes, and the richness and diversity of its wildlife attract him back again and again; his next trip to Kenya is planned for June 2013.

Photos displayed August 1-31, 2012

Gallery reception Saturday, August 11
from 3-4pm

GALAPAGOS

Michael's only visit to the Galapagos Islands was in May 2010. Generally, the islands are still pristine and the fascinating wildlife (sea lions, iguanas, giant tortoises, frigatebirds, boobies, albatrosses) unfazed by visitors. Michael fully expects to return to this enchanting place.

Photos displayed September 1-29, 2012

Gallery reception Saturday, September 8
from 3-4pm

EGYPT

Michael's most recent trip to Egypt was in March 2012. From the villages situated along the fertile banks of the River Nile to the grandeur of its monuments, Michael firmly believes this is the most picturesque country he has ever visited. He hopes to return someday.
